
Acknowledgments

Without my late father introducing me to the inner sensitivities of art and their influence on the outer world, the Roland Collection would not have been possible.

Many individuals have been generous in offering advice, assistance and support. I am honored by their valuable contribution, in particular:

Mildred Gordon, United States office manager for seventeen years

Anne Short, my invaluable personal assistant for thirteen years

Tom Buckley, USA

Daniel Cohen, France

Renate Fortescue, Britain

Marie Gordon, USA

Diane Hills, Britain

Anna Kelby, Britain

Jim Knox, USA

Anne Livingstone, Britain

Glenys Melgaard, Australia

Howard C Miskin, USA

Henk Newenhouse, USA

Gail Nicoll, Britain

Ida Roland, Denmark

Marc Roland, Britain

Saskia Roland, Britain

John Walker Jnr, USA

The Roland Collection is indebted to the expertise and long-term commitment of Humphries Video Services, London:

David Brown, Executive Co-ordinator

Censi Cabrera, Supervising Videotape Editor

Demetrakis Michael, Videotape Master Librarian and Resources Executive

Mark Summers, Head of Technical Services

Research has been facilitated by the endeavors of numerous organizations, including:

Biennale International du Film sur l'Art, Musée Nationale d'Art Moderne, Centre Georges Pompidou, Paris

Centre du Films sur l'Art, Brussels

Euro Aim-Mediabase, Brussels

Festival International du Film sur l'Art, Montréal

Program for Art on Film, Columbia University, New York (founded as a joint venture of the J Paul Getty Trust and the Metropolitan Museum of Art)

UNESCO (United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization), Paris

European home video publication has been aided by Espace Vidéo Européen, an initiative of the Irish Film Institute and the Médiathèque de la Communauté française de Belgique within the framework of the MEDIA program of the Commission of the European Union.

English language versions of some titles have been made with the assistance of:

BABEL (Broadcasting Across the Barriers of European Language)

EBU (European Broadcasting Union)

MEDIA (Commission of the European Communities)

EATC (European Alliance for Television and Culture)

And finally I should like to thank my diverse clients worldwide – from the Central Library in Berlin that acquired the entire collection to a small international school in Papua New Guinea. In recognition of the breadth of support given to the collection in the United States, a detailed list of American clients is given on pages 396-406.
